All over the world people listen to classical music. Classical music is difficult to describe. It means different things to different people. Some famous classical composers were Bach, Vivaldi, Haydn, and Mozart. In their music, they did not tell a story or show strong emotion. They wanted to make a beautiful, interesting design. They wanted to write lovely sounds.

Then composers started to interpret ideas. They told stories about wars, armies and soldiers. They wrote about religion. Sometimes they composed music for holidays. They told love stories and showed strong emotion. Some of these composers were Beethoven, Schumann Chopin, Mendelssohn, Wagner, and Tchaikovsky.

Classical music stays with people a long time. Bach wrote about 300 years ago, Beethoven wrote about 200 years ago, and Tchaikovsky wrote over 100 years ago. Sometimes people close their eyes to listen to classical music. When they close their eyes, they can see the design. They can listen to the same classical music many times and enjoy it. Choose the correct answer A, B, C or D to complete the passage (1,0 point).

Everyone loves music, it seems. And there's little reason to wonder why. There is so much music available from which to choose, and there is a category of music to appeal to every taste. The major groups of music are divided broadly (17) _____ classical, popular, and jazz. Within these broad groups are many other subcategories. For example, such disparate types of music as movie sound tracks rhythm and blue, rock, and rap all fit within the category of popular music.

Another reason why music is so (18) _____ is the variety of settings in which one can enjoy his or her favourite kind of music. You can go to the church to hear great religious music, or to the concert hall to hear a well-known classical symphony. On another night, you might go to the small club to listen to an up- and-coming jazz group (19) _____ you enjoy a drink. A few nights later, you might go with some friends to join thousands of other people in a stadium to hear your favorite rock band play in your city on a world tour. And, back your house or apartment, you can (20) _____ while you put in a tape or CD and listen to your favorite artists again and again in your own home.

THREATS TO BIOLOGICAL DIVERSITY

Presently the Earth is undergoing an era of unprecedented number of species extinctions. Human influence over the Earth's ecosystems has been so extensive within the last 10,000 years, that scientists have difficulty estimating the total number of species lost in this era; that is to say the rates of deforestation, reef destruction, wetlands filling and other human acts are proceeding much faster than human assessment of the Earth's species. The matter of ongoing species loss is made more complex by the fact that most of the Earth's species have not been described or evaluated for endangerment. Historically the main threat to biodiversity has been a set of threats generated from the overpopulation of humans: mass agriculture, deforestation, overgrazing, slash- and- burn, urban development, pesticide use. Worldwide, the effects of global warming add a potentially catastrophic threat to global biological diversity.

- Question 21. The word "unprecedented" in the line 1 mostly means _____.
 A. always occurred B. usually occurred
 C. sometimes occurred D. never occurred

- Question 23. All of the following are the reasons for endangering the biodiversity EXCEPT _____.
 A. Humans are enlarging the land for their crops.
 B. Humans are destroying many forests.
 C. Humans are paying much attention to the existence of all Earth's species.
 D. Humans are using more pesticides for their crops.
- Question 24. Which of the following statements can be the main idea of the reading passage?
 A. The number of species is becoming extinct because of human influence.
 B. Human don't evaluate the importance of biological diversity.
 C. Scientists are finding the way to reduce the ongoing species loss in this
 D. The main reason for species extinction comes from the overpopulation of humans.

Read the passage and choose the correct answer A, B, C or D to each of the questions (1,0 point).

Man is a land animal, but he closely tied to the sea. Throughout history the sea has served the needs of man. The sea provided man with food and convenient way to travel to many parts of the world. Today, nearly two thirds of the world's population live within 80 kilometers of the sea coast.

In the modern technological world, the sea offers many resources to help mankind survive. Resources on land are beginning to be used up. The sea, however, still can be hoped to supply many of man's needs.

The list of riches of the sea yet to be developed by man's technology is impressive. Oil and gas exploration have been carried out for nearly 30 years. Valuable amounts of mineral exist on the ocean floor ready to be mined. Fish farming- promises to be a good way to produce large quantities of food. The culture of fish and shellfish is an ancient skill practiced in the past mainly by the Oriental people.

Besides oil and gas, the sea may offer new source of energy. Experts believe that the warm temperature of the ocean can be used in a way similar to the steam in a steamship. Ocean currents and waves offer possible use as a source of energy. Technology is enabling man to explore ever more deeply under the sea. The development of strong, new materials has made this possible.

Music can move the soul. It can be a very strong influence. Some music can calm us down, but some music can make us wild! How does music affect us? Music is used in a variety of ways. It is used in the medical field as a source of research and as a sort of therapy as well. Music has been used as therapy for seizures, to lower blood pressure, treat mental illness, treat depression, aid in healing, treat stress and insomnia and premature infants. Musicologist Julius Portnoy found that it can change heart rates, increase or decrease blood pressure, effect energy levels, and digestion, positively or negatively, depending on the type of music. Calming music, such as classical music was found to have a very calming effect on the body, and cause the increase of endorphins, thirty minutes of such music was equal to the effect of a dose of valium. Both hemispheres of the brain are involved in processing music. The music in these studies is not the "lyrics", but the music itself, the melody, the tones, the tunes, the rhythm, the chords. Conversely music has also been documented to cause sickness. The right, or wrong music, rather, can be like a poison to the body. Studies have been done on plants where loud hard rock music, for instance, killed plants and soft classical music, make the plants grow faster. Music is very powerful, like a drug and can even be an addiction. According to Patty Hearst, a researcher on music, it was documented that music was used in the aid of brainwashing some people. In the book, "Elevator Music" by Joseph Lanza, it was stated that certain types of music over prolonged periods in certain conditions were shown to cause seizures.

Scientists around the world have been studying the warming of waters in the Pacific Ocean known as EL Nino. The appearance of EL Nino is known to affect the weather around the world. Scientists still do not completely understand it. Yet they now find they can use it to tell about the future in different areas of the world.

One example is the work of two scientists at Columbia University in New York, Mark Cane and Gordon Eshel. A scientist of Zimbabwe, Roger Buckland worked with them. They have found that when EL Nino appears, Zimbabwe has little or no rain. This means corn crops in Zimbabwe are poor. The last EL Nino was in 1991 to 1993. That was when southeastern suffered a serious lack of rain.

The scientists wrote about their recent work in the publication "Nature". Their computer program can tell when an EL Nino will develop up to a year before it does. They suggest that this could provide an effective early warning system for southern Africa, and could prevent many people from starving.

25. EL Nino is known as _____.
A. the changing of the weather in the southern Africa. B. the warming of waters in the Pacific Ocean.

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 25 to 28.

During the 19th century, it was common to hear people in Europe and America say that the resources of the sea were unlimited. For example, a noted biologist writing in the mid-19th century commented that none of the great sea fisheries are to be exhausted. Today though, there is evidence that the resources of the sea are as seriously endangered as those of the land and the air, and that the endangered species include Herring and Carp as well as the African Elephant, Indian Tiger, and the American Eagle.

Further, the threats to fish are more alarming in some ways than the threats to animals and birds.

This is because fish are a much needed food resource and people throughout the world depend on fish as an important part of their dish, and the decline in the fish supply could have extensive effects on hunger and population. Fishermen in the North Atlantic alone annually harvest 20 billion pounds of fish to satisfy food demands, but it is important to recognize that these practices cannot continue without depleting fish storage within the next few years. Sea resources are rapidly declining in many parts of the world, and the problem cannot be ignored.

We can predict that food supplies in the sea can not last forever.

25. According to the speaker, what was the attitude in the 19th century toward resources of the sea?

A. Declined.                      B. Depleted.                      C. Limited.                      D. Unlimited.

26. What is the range of the decline in fish supply?

A. Europe and Asia.                      B. The whole world.                      C. Asia and America.                      D. America.

27. What does the author believe about sea resources?

A. Sea resources can last forever.                      B. None of the great sea fisheries are to be exhausted.

C. Fish supply has no effects on people.                      D. Sea resources are important to people.

28. Which of the following title best describes the purpose of the lecture?

A. Unlimited Sea Resources.                      B. Threats to Animals and Birds.
C. Sea Resources on the Decline.                      D. Protection of Fish.

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 25 to 28:

Most people are afraid of sharks, but they usually do not know much about them. For example, there are about 350 species of shark that live in oceans all over the world. All of the sharks are carnivores, but most of them don't attack people. Some sharks are very small - the smallest shark is about 6 inches long - about as long as your hand. But some sharks are very large. The largest species sharks may be 60 feet long and weigh 15 tons. Unlike many other kinds of fish, sharks do not have bone. Their bodies are made up of a kind of tough white flexible material ( called cartilage). Sharks do not have ears. However, they hear sounds and movements in the water. Any sound or movement makes the water vibrates. Sharks can feel these vibrations, and they help the sharks find food. Sharks use their large eyes to find food, too. Most sharks see best in low light. They often hunt for food at dawn, in the evening, or in the middle of the night.

Nowadays, scientists want to learn more about sharks for several reasons. For example, cancer is common in many animals, including people. However, it is rare in sharks. Scientists want to find out why sharks almost never get cancer. Maybe this information can help people prevent cancer too.

25. Which of the following is NOT true ?
 A. Large sharks can weigh up to 15,000kg.                                      B. Sharks' bodies are made up of cartilage.
 C. Sharks can find their food by feeling vibrations.                                      D. Sharks usually attack people.
